Technical Information

The Frame Hi bed is made up of a solid hardwood frame that is veneered in a variety of desired woods. The wood grain is carefully matched, hand sanded and stained for consistency of appearance.

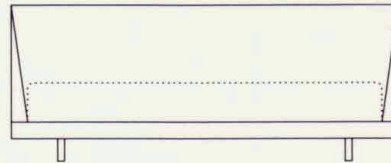

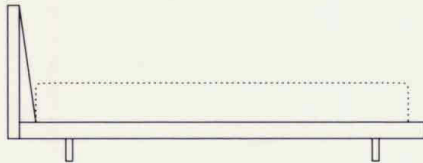

The bed construction uses welded corner brackets that conceal all hardware and connections under the mattress. The corner brackets are inter-changeable, allowing for simple connection of the rails and stainless steel legs. The beech wood slat and rubber strap system provides an excellent support while eliminating the need of a large box spring.

The upholstered headboard provides firm support through layering of different densities of foam. The headboard is constructed of a solid laminated wood Frame fully foamed on all sides.
